LONDON. (AP)—Mary Churchill, youngest daughter of Britain's wartime prime minister, will be married to Capt. Ronald Guinness of the Coldstream Guards on Jan. 11, it was announced Monday.

Terrorists Flog British Soldiers

They were deported to Cyprus when they originally arrived here without immigration certificates.

Authorities said the British Major was whisked away from his room in the lounge of a hotel in Natchua, 40 miles north of the all-Jewish city of Tel Aviv.

The two sergeants were taken from another hotel on the southeast of Tel Aviv, told to dress and taken to a small group of soldiers, held at bay by the commandant.

The Tel Aviv kidnappers fled after five men, limped back an hour later.

Police said the Natchua office of the Haaretz Hebrew language newspaper received an anonymous telephone call in Hebrew that the Jewish underground organization Irgun Zva'Leumi was responsible for the kidnappings.

Prisoners Taken New security measures were reported to have been instituted by the most Palestine cities to prevent other such slayings.

The broadcast warning last week by Irgun said British soldiers would be whipped if they were caught in a sentence of 18 lashes and 10 years in prison on 10-year-old British King's Commission, certified of participation in the Jaffa bank robbery Sept. 13. The whipping was carried out Friday in Jerusalem prison.

Ankara, Turkey, is to have a new medical university.

From an economic viewpoint, the world is presently doing well. Russia's business, it has orders from other countries to keep going. It is expected to be three or four years.

But the prudent Swiss foresee the day when they may have to look around for customers. Russians, of course, have need of Swiss machinery and materials.

And Russia can benefit Swiss raw materials. Then, too, a great trade vacuum, formerly filled by Germany, exists in the Russian-dominated Balkans. The Russians will have to help fill that.

During the war many Swiss newspapers continued to refer to Russia as the "great ally."

The Swiss Communists have an important task to promote trade between Switzerland and Russia. And the easier they make this, the more they will be able to realize that they must be nice to Russia.

Reduced Debt, More People Mark City's 1946 Progress

Increasing its population by more than 3,000, refunding its debt, increasing its assessment by more than $3,000,000 and breaking all records in the issuance of building permits in 1946, the city of Edmonton has made a record in its progress.

Mayor Amley who took office in November, 1945, has made a record by an overwhelming majority again in November, 1946. He has been re-elected by a landslide.

The number of telephones in Edmonton increased from 24,328 in 1945 to 28,000 in 1946. The electric light and power company has made a record in its progress.

Start changes at the civic block resulting from the retirements of many well-known Edmontonians, including William Barnhouse, superintendent of the electric light and power company, and J. C. Carey, commercial manager, Miss Laurette Carrigan, mayor's secretary, Gordon C. Goss, veteran member of the street railway department, Alex Templeton, assistant city assessor.

Working hours of the civic employees were improved when a five-day week was not into effect a few months ago. As a result, the civic block is closed on Saturdays.

Swiss, Russians 'Make Up' After Quarter-Century Split

By William McGiffin
Zurich, Switzerland, (CDN)—Switzerland and Russia, when split speaking to each other a quarter of a century ago, have made up.

This is not to say they have become bottom friends. Trade is the common ground on which the two countries are meeting now—trade plus an appreciation of "real politics."

Russia has replaced Germany as the dominant power on the European continent. And the Swiss, who learned how to live with the German whatever their feelings about it, now are learning how to live with the new big shot who has moved in next door.

Mean, Neatly Observed There is an old Russian saying to the effect that, "We will water our horses in Lake Geneva." Russia now in Austria, only a few hours away, it conceivably will not be too difficult to put that saying into effect.

So the Swiss are eager to gain Russian approval. They are also the "traditional policy of neutral." In the event of another war, they have none out of their way to be courteous to the Russians.

The summer and winter of 1945, Bellevue hotel, favorite gathering place of rich Swiss capitalists and foreign diplomats until the new Russian minister took office, there was an unprecedented gathering.

But there are strong indications that the Russians would grant strict observance to "neutrality" in the event of another war. The Russians have seen what an advantage "neutrality" was to them in Germany during the war just ended.

The Russians are scratching the Swiss back by plinking for Geneva as the "temporary" home of the United Nations. It would be a fine thing for the Swiss to have Geneva remain its old glory. But the Russians are not without self-interest in the matter.

The physical exchange of military after the long period without direct observation to the September Relations formed here—reestablished in March. The first step, leading to this began during the latter part of the war. The Swiss upon protest from the Russians about the alleged poor treatment of Russian military personnel in Switzerland, invited a Russian delegation to inspect the interior.

ST. JOHN'S Nfld. (CP)—Newfoundland's commission government is continuing a drive started in 1944 to popularize agriculture and make it a self-supporting industry for mining and a complementary industry for those engaged in fishing, mining and lumbering.

In a manifesto outlining reconstruction plans over the next 10 years, the government laid particular stress on the development of agriculture. It earmarked approximately 6,000,000 for use in settling and clearing land, for improving agricultural services and for the construction of dairy barns and warehouses.

It is generally recognized that the island now produces an estimated 10 per cent of food and dairy products because of the existing high costs for these products their consumption among the island's 312,000 population is generally low. Instant fresh milk is a rarity as a beverage in public restaurants. Pasture-fed fresh milk sells in St. John's for as much as 28 cents a gallon.

There are few dairy farms on the island which covers an estimated 29,000 square miles. The difficulty of obtaining proper feed and of marketing dairy products has tended to discourage dairy farming and beef cattle raising. Farmers for the most part are engaged in growing of vegetables, keeping only sufficient livestock to provide their own and immediate local demand. A 40-acre farm is considered a large one.

The soil in many areas infertile and weather conditions are such as to discourage the growth of some crops. The 1941-42 winter season showed that of the island's 312,000 population only 15,000 are full-time farmers. Approximately 25,000 others were classified as part-time farmers.

Despite the evident handicaps, the commission government feels that the development of agriculture would have its benefits. It points to the success of land settlement schemes during the depression and during the war years. From 1944 to 1946, 225 families were establishing on the land in various parts of the island. The government is planning to increase the number of settlers and the people on the island are in receipt of government

Protest Moving Military District Delegation to See Minister

A delegation, headed by officials of the Calgary Board of Trade, was scheduled to meet Hon. James Mackenzie, federal minister of trade and commerce here Monday, in further protest of the recently-announced decision to move headquarters of Military District 13 from Calgary to Edmonton.

THE TRADE MINISTER and Alberta's representative in the Dominion cabinet, said Monday he would discuss the matter with the Calgary delegation although he had previously pointed out that the decision to move the military headquarters here was made by the minister of defence at Ottawa on the unanimous recommendation of the Canadian general staff.

"There was nothing whatsoever political about the move," Mr. Mackenzie said in a recent statement.

MILITARY DISTRICT NO. 13 headquarters will be located within the headquarters of Western Army Command, one of five Canadian Army Commands created some months ago with the object of streamlining Canadian military operations.

Edmonton, because of its highly strategic importance, has therefore become the natural centre for the military district headquarters as well, Mr. Mackenzie pointed out. The minister said that he, personally, had no part in making the decisions.

Revenue from Utilities Higher by $48,805.34

Gross revenue from the five city-owned utilities for the 11-month period ended Nov. 30, 1946 totaled $6,917,111.62 compared with $6,868,306.28 for the same period last year, an increase of $48,805.34, according to a statement filed Monday with the city commissioners by A. A. Campbell, city comptroller.

Name Barrister Head of Board

C. M. Macleod, K.C., has been appointed permanent chairman of the Warlock's Commission Board. It was announced Monday by Premier Ernest Manning. The appointment is effective as from Feb. 1 next.

CARL W. COOK, who has been acting in the capacity of chairman since the retirement about a year ago of Dr. Victor Wright, will continue on the board until the industrial chairman, with Alfred Farnie as labor representative.

W. S. Rose will continue as special assistant.

Mr. Manning pointed out that when Mr. Cook took over the chairmanship it was Mr. Cook's expressed wish that he be relieved of the post at the first opportunity so that he could devote his time to the industrial side of the board.

MR. MANNING expressed appreciation of the efficient service rendered by Mr. Cook during his term as chairman.

Mr. Macleod comes to the board with high commendation for his abilities in understanding the viewpoints of claimants for compensation and his regard for the practice here with the firm of Simpson and Macleod since 1928.

HE WAS APPOINTED to the public service in 1943 as official guardian, and in 1944 was made assistant legislative counsel. He was appointed a king's counsel in 1941.

After having been admitted to the Nova Scotia bar in 1924 he came to Alberta the following year and practiced four years at Hanna before establishing himself here.

At present an official of the public service, his appointment as chairman was more in the nature of a transfer, the premier said.

Construction, Maintenance Work for 1947

Prepare $9,500,000 Road Program

Alberta's highway program for 1947 is set at $9,500,000 for construction and maintenance; it was announced Monday by Hon. A. A. Campbell, minister of public works.

GENERAL PLANS for the work which will be directed by his department during the season are now being broken down into detail in preparation for the estimate to be placed before the next sitting of the legislature, Mr. Campbell said.

Whether the $9,500,000 will be used entirely in the year's program will be dependent on the availability of contracting firms and the number who place bids for the work when tenders are called.

MAIN HIGHWAYS west of Edmonton are among the initial works under consideration, said Mr. Campbell. This will include a permanent base under the Edmonton-Stony Plain highway and a hard black top surface on the road from Stony Plain to Carleton Place.

Section of highway at present has only a temporary top finish.

The minister said he was unable to announce other details of the plans until his department officials had made estimates of the capacity of public works machinery and the equipment of private contractors.

Plane Due Here

On New Year's Day, a gaily-decorated Northwest Air line plane will arrive from Minneapolis at Edmonton airport and leave the next morning with an eventual destination of Manila in the Philippine Islands.

Plan Orient Survey Flight

This will be the first survey flight to the Orient preliminary to establishment of a regular passenger and air express service by way of Edmonton and Alaska to the Orient.

Don King, vice-president of the Oriental region for Northwest Air Lines and a veteran wartime pilot in the Air Corps, will be aboard the Douglas DC-4 making the first flight via the northwest aerial passage from Bellevue in 1947. He was a devoted member of the Sacred Heart school, where he was employed.

Other stops will be made at Anchorage, Alaska and the Island of Shemya in the Aleutians, before Tokyo, Shanghai and Manila.

On Jan. 2 the first scheduled passenger flight between Minneapolis and Anchorage will pass through Edmonton, also stopping over for refueling and a customs check.

This plane will arrive here at 4:30 p.m. and reach Anchorage at 8:30 a.m. of the same day.

Arrangements are being made to make the occasion of the first flight to the Orient a memorable occasion. Lee Huston, station manager at Edmonton for Northwest Air Lines said Monday.

OFFICIALS of Northwest Air Lines will be the guests of the City of Edmonton at a banquet to be held in the Macdonald hotel on Wednesday evening.

Scientists estimate that only about one-tenth of all the species of plants and animals which are known to the white world.

FAMILY REUNITED: The Yuletide season is always one of family get-togethers and reunions. For the family of Mr. and Mrs. Francis McGuire of 11405 86 street, pictured above, this Christmas season was a special one. It marked the first complete reunion of their family in 20 years. The arrival of a son, the Rev. Father J. C. McGuire, from Belfast, was the incentive that brought all the sons and daughters of the family to their parental home here to spend the Christmas holidays. In the front row left to right are Sister Mary Ender of Camrose; Mr. McGuire; Francis; Mrs. McGuire; Sister Mary Franchina of Montreal. In the back row, left to right are Ephraim of Edmonton; Jack of Grass Lake; Mrs. Josephine Hendrick, Edmonton; Father J. C. McGuire, Belfast, Ireland; Sheila of Edmonton; Gabriel of Spruce Grove, and Emmett of St. Bride's.

Basic Causes Object of Attack Drive on Juvenile Delinquency Planned by Tuxis Movement

Four-fold resolution urging that work be undertaken to curb the increased juvenile delinquency by attacking its basic causes, and that this work be shouldered by the Tuxis Movement, the church, the community and the province was passed at Saturday's meeting of the Executive Council of the Tuxis Movement.

THE RESOLUTION further urged that the community and church provide opportunities for recreational activities without use of alcohol; and that education provided by temperance forces include study of organizations sponsoring therapeutic treatment, such as Alcoholics Anonymous.

Sunday evening, delegates attending a church service at Robertson United Church where the Rev. Dr. G. B. Caird, of St. Stephen's College, was guest speaker.

His subject was "Power of an Idea," and in his lecture he touched on temperance and juvenile delinquency.

Plan to Co-Ordinate Education of Jews

Plans for the co-ordination of Jewish education in all parts of Canada with inauguration of a day-school system for Jewish children where both Hebrew and English are taught in the same school, will be presented in an address Monday night in Talmud Torah Hall by Leon Kronitz, principal of Herzliya high school, Montreal.

THE MONTREAL school is one of the best students in high schools and universities, many winning scholarships.

With Jewish children getting all of their education in the one school the pupils are able to lead a "normal life," Mr. Kronitz said. Where the Jewish children attend regular public schools and the Jewish schools in addition the life of the school is the doctrine of segregation taught in the schools.

Little Crime, Few Mishaps

Crime and accidents, usually heavy in the city over a week-end, reached a new low for the year on the first week-end in 1946 with only three traffic accidents reported; no one injured, and two persons arrested, one for intoxication and one for disorderly conduct.

OTHER FOR THE YEAR was a case of a woman, Mrs. E. A. E. WOODWARDS, in charge of the city traffic squad, Monday morning that he hoped the accident score on city streets continues to remain as low over the New Year's Eve and New Year's Day.

The detective department received only minor complaints and reported that the score was low.

Alex Cebulski, 1952 64 street, reported that the score was low and tire were stolen from his car on Sunday night while it was parked in front of his home. The license plate was stolen from an automobile owned by R. Bell, 1948 108A avenue, while Laurie Wertheim, 1017 121 street, told police that a tire and rim were stolen from the trunk compartment of his auto between 4 and 8 p.m. Saturday while the vehicle was parked in front of his home. The handle had been removed from the compartment.

MR. KRONITZ admitted that opinion is divided among Jewish parents on the subject of day schools for their children, with some being opposed to the plan.

The Jewish part of the education of the day school comprises Zionism, inasmuch as it is believed that both the Balfour Declaration and the Balfour promise a homeland for the Jewish people in Palestine.

The day school officials are against all forms of terrorism, such as have occurred frequently in Palestine in recent times, he declared.

There is the doctrine of segregation taught in the schools.

War Bride Would Exchange Way of Life for That in U.S.

War was tough enough on the American housewife who was unable to buy those delicacies which served up the ordinary meal. But a husband from New Hampshire, who bride gladly would have exchanged her wartime suffering for the relatively easy time she would find in the American home.

Mrs. John Russell is a native of Czechoslovakia and knows the meaning of the words war and invasion. She was there when the Nazis swept into her homeland and took over the peaceful country.

The aged girl was taken prisoner by the Germans and forced into slave labor. For six years her main diet consisted of potato soup and black bread, but somehow she managed to exist on the scanty prison fare.

Mrs. Russell's parents were not so fortunate. Her father was shot before her eyes by the Nazis, and her mother was herded off into a separate concentration camp.

She never saw her mother again—dead or alive—but she later learned that her mother died of starvation in a German prison camp. Still, the slight girl took all the Germans had to offer and never lost her faith in the future.

Then, in May 1945, came the action which Czechs had been waiting for so long. The Nazis arrived and with them liberation for the downtrodden people who had survived the Nazi hell. Among them was John Russell, and for the first time in years, she was to find happiness in the triumphant arrival of the victors.

THE FEVER-ridden girl was hospitalized to the institution one day for so long. The Nazis arrived and with them liberation for the downtrodden people who had survived the Nazi hell. Among them was John Russell, and for the first time in years, she was to find happiness in the triumphant arrival of the victors.

Army duties kept the former sergeant from his bride throughout most of his stay in Europe. But the mail and the joys of intimate conversation.

AS A RESULT, the correspondence of the happy couple to get acquainted after several months of planning, the bride and groom, and wife. The ceremony was performed in a small hall in Germany, a Catholic chaplain officiating.

Russell remembered the American way of life and repaid his debt to the United States. This, despite the fact that he was faced with additional overseas duty before leaving for New Hampshire and home.

ARRANGEMENTS finally were completed and the young girl headed for the United States. She arrived in Minneapolis early in July.

The 19-year-old wife quickly adapted herself to the customs of the adopted land. She is a native of German, Polish, Czech and French. Mrs. Russell already has learned the English language. To day, while awaiting the return of her husband from army service she is employed at a Minneapolis mill. And she is planning to be home soon.

MINING "WOOLLY" ROCK: More than half the world's supply of asbestos comes from Thoroford Mines, on the Quebec Central Railway, in Quebec's Eastern Townships. Production in 1945 was 250,000 tons compared with the first 500 shipment made just 10 years ago. Recovery of asbestos fibres from crushed ore is a science developed by mines in Thoroford area. Both open pit and underground mining methods are used to take out the ore. At left a miner drills in an underground ore body preparatory to blasting. At right ore is loaded into a truck to be hauled to the mill from an open pit.

No Change Liquor Sales

Despite the probability that New Year's Eve in liquor sales will exceed that of Christmas there will be no further extension of hours of sale and no supplementary staff, J. A. King, chairman of the Alberta Liquor Control Board, said Saturday.

Hours of sale were extended last year, and these operating hours are still in effect, and have been found adequate to accommodate pre-Christmas customers, the chairman said.

Present hours extending holidays are from 10 a.m. to 12 p.m. Monday to Saturday, and 10 a.m. to 12 p.m. on Sunday.

Liquor permits go on sale Jan. 2, and will be handled in the normal manner through the government's liquor stores, King said.

Veterans of Two Great Wars Forty-Niners Plan Reunion

All men who served with the 49th Battalion, C.E.F., in World War 1, or with The Royal Edmonton Regiment in World War 2, are invited to attend the annual reunion banquet of the 49th Battalion Association, to be held in the Macdonald hotel, Saturday, Jan. 4, Brig. J. C. Jefferson, CBE, DSO, DFC, president of the association, has announced.

This is the 32nd anniversary celebration and banquet. It will start off with a get together in the mainline floor dining room at 6:30 p.m., the "tail in" will be sounded at 7:15 p.m. and dinner will be served in the main dining room at 7:30 p.m.

New members are asked to wear their berets, but medals will not be worn.

Out of town veterans planning to attend, should make their arrangements as soon as possible as hotels in the city are exceptionally busy at this time of year.

Betty Hill Visits Canada

(By Byron Gaddy)

(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

TORONTO, Dec. 26.—(CP)—If you mention the name of Betty Hill to hundreds of Canadians who served in the RCAF in London they will tell you of a lovely English red-head who managed the reception centre at RCAF headquarters, 120 Adelaide St. W.

Remember her as the girl who was killed when the mountain to the paper work necessary to see that the clothing coupons and their use, she did a good job.

But when she began the task back in 1940, she didn't know whether or not she would like the Canada. They were "a big hairy you know" and their approach was anything but subtle.

Betty arrived in Toronto recently, the widow of a Canadian airman who was killed only a few weeks after their marriage.

Betty's husband was killed. Betty had been in the mountains to do social work. She knows the mountains and the people who live in them.

Damage Light In Two Fires

Firemen were called to extinguish two fires on the south side of the city during the week-end. In both cases the damage was only of a minor nature.

THE LARGEST of the two blazes broke out about 2:15 a.m. Sunday in the Macdonald Auto Body Shop, 101 1/2 Ave. S. The fire started in the roof of the building and spread to the garage.

Two cars and two trucks parked in the garage were not damaged. Cause of the fire is still unknown. The fire was put out by Fire Chief James Macgregor soon had the flames under control.

The building is owned by W. H. Harkness Ltd. while the auto repair shop is operated by D. W. Anderson, 1008 1/2 Ave. S. A. MacDonald, 1008 1/2 Ave. S. and A. MacDonald, 1008 1/2 Ave. S.

THE OTHER FIRE on Saturday, was in a suite on the ground floor of 112 1/2 St. The owner of a bedroom rooming house is believed to have caused a small circuit and started the fire which burned the contents of two windows and scorched the wall. The suite was occupied by Jane Clark. Firemen from number six hall under supervision of District Chief W. Ferguson responded to the alarm.

Diamond Industry Expects Big Year

JOHANNESBURG—A new record in 1946 for the South African diamond industry, which has produced approximately 4,000,000 carats, is expected by the industry and South African mines will be won't full capacity with the assurance that everything they produce will find a market.

Help Drive Demand
Sir Kenneth Oppenheimer, mine director, said recently there is no intention of departing from the wartime policy of the Diamond Trading company of keeping prices for diamonds steady below the index of general commodity prices in the United States, Britain and South Africa.

No exploitation policy is envisaged to try to reap the boom in diamond demand although Premier mine states that the diamond and the diamond deposits near Kimberley may soon be brought into production again. The mine will apparently, still exceed the 1945 record.

In diamond shares, as in gold, there is a big speculative boom in South Africa, with the mine share playing a considerable part in the market.

New Sales Plan
The marketing side of the diamond industry is being put on a new footing. The Diamond Trading company will still handle all sales of gemstones to the public (possibly about 10,000,000 a year at current prices from all sources in South Africa, including the mine) but a new company is being formed to handle sales to industrial diamonds.

Desired figures of employment in the South African diamond industry are not readily available, but the general manager of the De Beers company in Kimberley gives figures which indicate the trend of development.

During 1939, De Beers employed 1,000 employees and 1,400 natives compared with 2,700 Europeans and 5,000 natives in 1946.

Kimberly will have to outstrip the report on the future prospects of the diamond industry, but it is thought there that the employment figures are a good augury for the industry's expansion.

Officers Revive Crow's Nest Club

ST. JOHNS, Nfld., (CP)—Re-considered by local residents, the Crow's Nest, a haven to many officers of all three services, is the battle of the Atlantic, still known on.

Officers' club during the war as the seafaring officers' club and organized now as the Crow's Nest Officers' Club, it's still the "Crow's Nest" whenever it is mentioned.

With the end of the war in Europe, the club officially closed its doors in July, 1945. But it wouldn't stay closed for long.

Officers of all three forces, ago together and reorganized the club, the famous, played a large part in the North Atlantic war—many of the ladies will remember the friendly and encounters with the officers and their wives—were not much remains the same.

There are still the prime walls, with its red brick walls, and the friendly open fireplace. There is the dash, dash, dash, a new look that recalls a night in the same of the officers' club, a center to see who could drive a

PLANE DEDICATED IN CHURCH—This two-seater airplane, dedicated at a special service in First Baptist Church in Minneapolis, was purchased by Minneapolis House for use in expanding its youth work throughout the Northwest.

CONTESTANT—Curvaceous Aileen Sonja Adler, 17, hopes to be chosen "Miss Pointsettia" in St. Petersburg, Fla.

DEATH AT THE CROSSROADS—This is the shattered wreckage of the Silverstreet school bus in which 10 children and driver were killed when it was hit by a passenger train on a fog-shrouded crossing near Newberry, S. C. Eleven others, seriously hurt, were hospitalized.

OLDEST GAVEL—Rep. Joseph W. Martin (R. Mass.), right, slated to become speaker of the House in the new Congress, receives a gavel made of petrified black walnut estimated to be 18,000,000 years old from Rep. Hal Holmes (R. Wash.). Gavel was made by Peter Jossom, of Ellensburg, Wash.

GOOD TO BE BACK—Daisy Mae is home, and very glad to be there. The Dalmatian mascot of Engine Co. 4, Newark, N. J., had caused as much concern as a missing person when she vanished after falling from a fire truck. Searchers found her wandering in the street.

FOR BEING A GOOD HORSE—Patricia Anne Thompson, six, of Valley, Neb., solemnly feeds "King" his carrot during the Detroit Humane Society's Christmas party for animals. The horse also received equine gifts of hay and oats.

ANTICIPATION—Darrell H. Vernon, 26, Air Corps veteran who saw 23 months of service in Europe with a fighter squadron, smiles with his family while waiting announcement in Klamath Falls, Ore., of winners in the Tule Lake $2,250,000 government land lottery. Vernon's name was not drawn.

TAKING HOME THE TURKEY—ENGLISH STYLE—Puffing and pushing hard on the pedals of his tricycle, three-year-old Trevor Francis drags home on the new-fallen snow the box containing his Christmas turkey.

'WHAT'S GOING ON'—This young music lover has maneuvered to a backstage vantage point in his efforts to see what is going on as Alfred Wallenstein conducts Los Angeles Symphony.

NO. 1 ROSE—Blonde Norma Christopher, 18, of Los Angeles, queen of Pasadena Tournament of Roses, will lead New Year's Day parade and preside over UCLA-Illinois football classic in Rose Bowl.

BUZZARD ROOST—These buzzards, king also, roost on the roof of a downtown Washington, D. C., apartment house. The building is short distance from the Zoo from which the birds obtain their food. A district law forbids killing the birds and Zoo officials are unable to control them.

HOLIDAY GREETINGS FROM USO—USO Camp shows entertainer Lucille Bramel, Covington, Ky., blows "burr" for a New Year of GI entertainment. Lee Davis, Danville, Va., holds the 1947 schedule of shows destined to be seen by occupation forces in the Pacific areas.

TOKYO'S TIMES SQUARE—Showing American influence in Japan is this busy street corner at intersection of K Avenue and Ginza Street. U. S. Occupation Forces marked the streets with American names.

Resents in-Law's Interest in Child

Dear Miss Dix: My husband and I have been married two years and have a wonderful baby. We have a beautiful apartment that his parents have given us, but the trouble is that we live upstairs in the same house with them. It's not very making my life miserable by interfering in my handling of the baby. Otherwise they are very nice, but they make unnecessary pests of themselves by my mother-in-law coming upstairs two or three times a day to see the baby. Also, she is forever telling how she reared her children and how I should do this or that to keep him indoors, and whenever I cross they come running upstairs to see what is the matter. They also think that they should have had downstairs any time they please.

ALL OF THIS is making me very nervous and causing me to dislike them so much. It is not in their way to help me up because they live in broken up because of their UNHAPPY DAUGHTER-IN-LAW. Answering Well, of course, there is no use in suggesting to you that resolution of your problem is to use a little common sense and patience and human sympathy, for if I let's in any young mother, with her first baby, to do this. She thinks that when the infant was born she was endowed with supernatural wisdom, and nobody can tell her anything. Especially her mother-in-law can't. Grandma may have reared half a dozen stalwart sons and daughters, but the daughters-in-law think that at her dress are antiquated, and that her precious darling's life is being endangered if Grandma touches him. Of course, seeing as how the young mother is like the Jewish Turk who bears no rival near the water, if Grandma had an ounce of worldly knowledge instead of being all heart, she would keep from under your feet and off your nerves, by sensing your folly and never coming even to look the baby unless especially invited, and she would no more kiss it than a club, or do anything like this.

Bridge Why Grow Old?

At the annual banquet held during the Louisiana State Tournament at New Orleans, representatives of the various state units of the American Contract Bridge League met for the annual conference of the Louisiana State unit. The Louisiana State unit pair championship was won by L. E. Robertson and George Heath of Dallas, Tex., and careful play on today's hand helped them to win it. Robertson, the declarer, trumped the opening heart lead with the deuce of spades and led the spade king. East winning. The seven of spades was returned and won in dummy with the eight-spade.

Now most of the declarers thought this was as good a time as any to take a discard on the good king of hearts. They threw away the deuce of clubs on the heart king, then took the diamond finesse and when it lost, they lost the contract.

Before bluffing with the diamond, Robertson cabbed the ace and king of clubs and the spade king. He dropped a bid with a marked line with the jack-nine in dummy. One of the losing diamonds was discarded on the jack of clubs and the other on the king of hearts.

While the odds were very much against the queen of clubs dropping in two columns, declarer should not consider it hopeless and assume that the natural discard was the deuce of clubs. The good player explores every possibility that may exist, and I crave a little freedom. Don't you think I am entitled to it?

Answer: You certainly are. Why don't you take it? It is silly for you to give in and let him boss the life out of you. There is nothing you want to do that is the slightest harm. So go to it. Remember that slavery has been abolished even for wives.

Tell your husband that if he doesn't want you to go out alone, he can try along with you, but that you are going, anyhow.

DOES SUDDENLY A 17-year-old bachelor resident of the Gibbons district Jack Tucker, was found dead in his home Friday by a neighbor, Wilfred Perry. The coroner for the district said the man died from natural causes and no inquest will be necessary.

One hundred and fifty hours of reconstruction labor are required from students at the University of Berlin. International Student Service disclosed.

Why Grow Old?

In this day, when living conditions are so jammed and families who would not normally live together are crowded into one house, and even mice are looking for holes, I receive many letters asking if there aren't some beneficial exercises which require little space.

IT IS TRUE that many of the mat exercises take a lot of room. There are, happily, many good exercises which you can do in a small room without knocking the pictures from the wall or breaking your leg against a chair.

Try the following one. Lie on your left side with your legs straight. Raise yourself by placing your right hand on the floor in front of you. Lift both legs upward as far as you can, knee stiff. Lower legs. Continue. Turn onto the right side and place the left hand on the floor in front of you. Lift both legs. Lower. Continue.

The next exercise has splendid hip reducer and abdominal tones and takes very little space. Lie on your back with your legs straight and knees crossed loosely over the chest. Lift the trunk and the legs from the floor and roll from side to side, catching yourself on each side with your hands, so you will not roll over onto your stomach. Continue.

THE IMPORTANT thing is to be certain that both your legs and your trunk are off the floor so that your body weight will fall directly over the fulcrum of your hips. How far you raise your legs or trunk depends on your build, the length of your legs, etc. You can judge this for yourself. But be sure that your weight falls over the part you wish to reduce.

I have a leaflet which has splendid exercises for the hips, waist and abdomen, and the exercises are designed to be taken in a small space. If you wish to have it sent a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for leaflet No. 26 "Exercises for Small Space." Address: Josephine Lowman, in care of The Edmonton Bulletin.

As far as you're concerned your Timothy is about perfect. For a couple of years you've been eyeing him . . . and wishing in secret he'd give a break. He finally came to his senses . . . and did exactly that. And you're been having a swell time with him.

He's just your type. He likes the same things . . . he laughs at the same jokes . . . and you're always in step when you dance together. You both think the same things . . . you like each other immensely.

But your girl friends aren't sure they like Woodward. Some of them have known him longer than you have. They can't get up tales of children's ancient history . . . weird and wonderful stories. And they tell them to you with the gesture that means "I repeat can't change his spot."

Others of your friends have gone with Tim from time to time, and they agree comparing notes with you. They like to brag that they knew him very well indeed. And all of this makes your situation a little awkward.

You know full well all of you girls talk much when you get together. You let your back hair down and tell a lot of things for the good of later years. If you're down on any of the crowd's doings and attitudes, what pass it on as fast as you can. Every girl just has to know what everybody else is up to.

So, of course, the girls who know what's going on between you and Tim. Edith had her spell of yearning for him . . . but Tim couldn't see her. And her point of view about Tim is completely a bit jaundiced. He never did fall for her . . . so she doesn't recognize a good thing when he sees it. He just falls for girls who . . .

And she suffers plenty with a shrug and a raised eyebrow. You've tried to let her own her double chin for her visiting cousin, and though he came along, he hated her. Frigid. Consigning Peg thinks he's still and starchy. Mollie's right. Edith has to be a Fairly Dimpled, and she stalled her off until the last minute and finally found an excuse for not going . . . too late for her to ask.
